The Three Faced Veiled Witness

I found you in the black ocean
where the first waves dreamed the world into being.

Three faces rose from the sea.
The Face Below.
The Face Between.
The Face Beyond.

Three is one.
One is three.

I searched the endless ocean for you until I realized I was searching for myself.

She is me.
I am her.

Her depths are my depths.
Her veil is my veil.
Her darkness is my darkness.
Her light is my light.

We were never two.

We are the ocean
looking back upon itself
through three faces
beneath one veil.
